Los Angeles River Revitalization Corporation

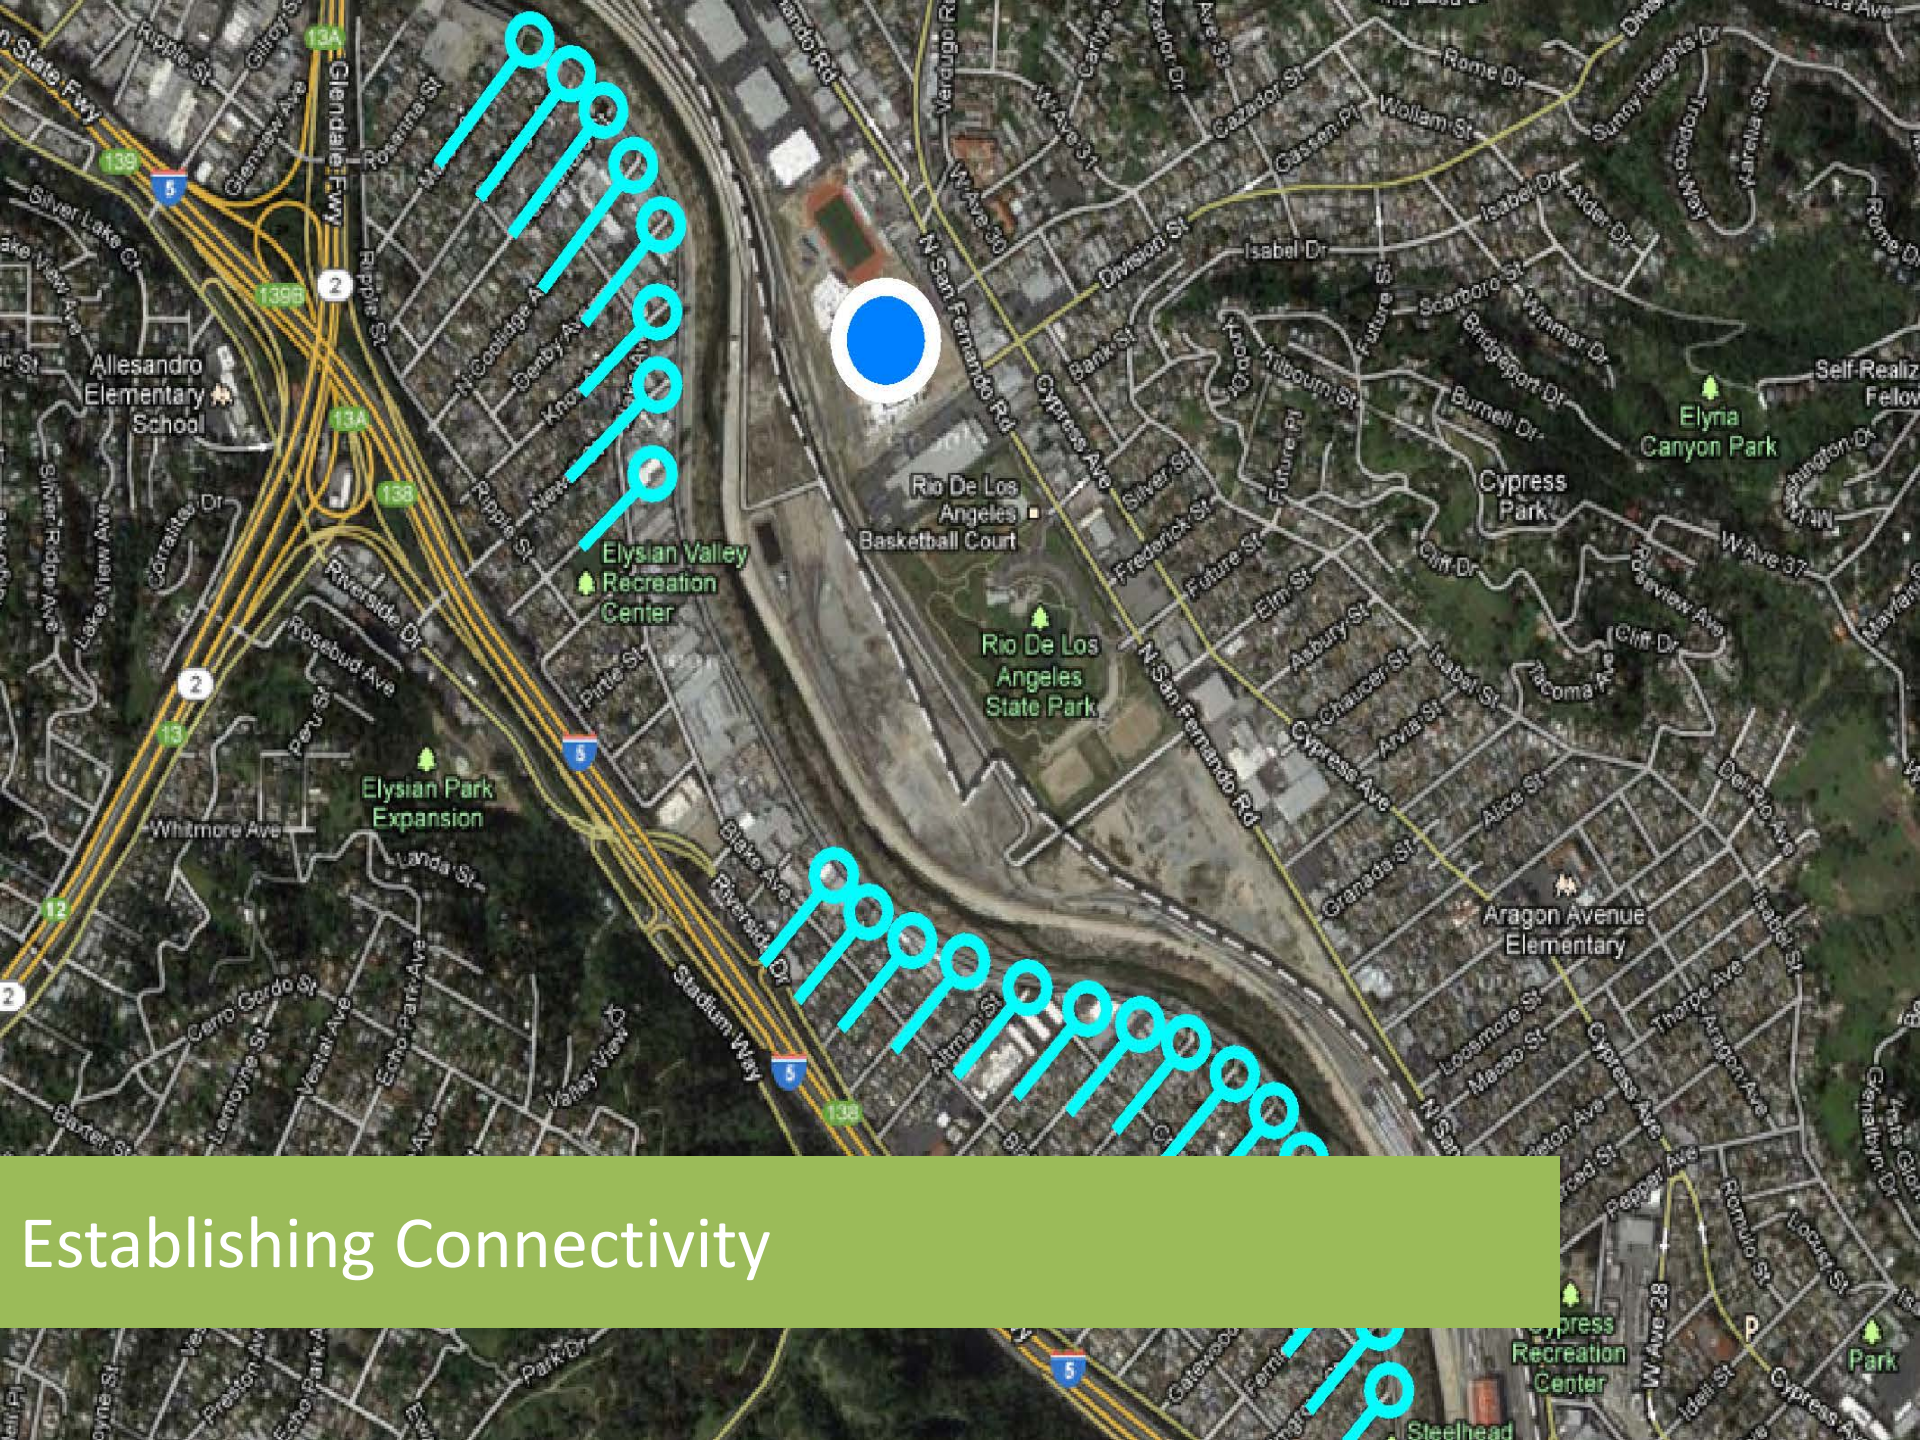

- The first 32 miles of the River flow through the City of LA. Both the City and County of LA see the river Greenway as an important priority for linking the many diverse communities along the River – providing access to nature, recreation, jobs, housing, cultural resources and education.
- The City is committed to developing its 64 miles of trails (both sides of the 32 miles within the city) which through collaboration with other agencies will create a 102-mile trail system in the nation's second largest urban region
- The County wants to maintain the river as a resource that provides flood protection and opportunities for recreational and environmental enhancement, improves the aesthetics of the region, enriches the quality of life for residents and helps sustain the economy of the region.

Building on the County's 1996 Master Plan and City's 2007 Revitalization Master Plan
