Federal Update & Outlook

CMANC Winter Meeting

January 2019

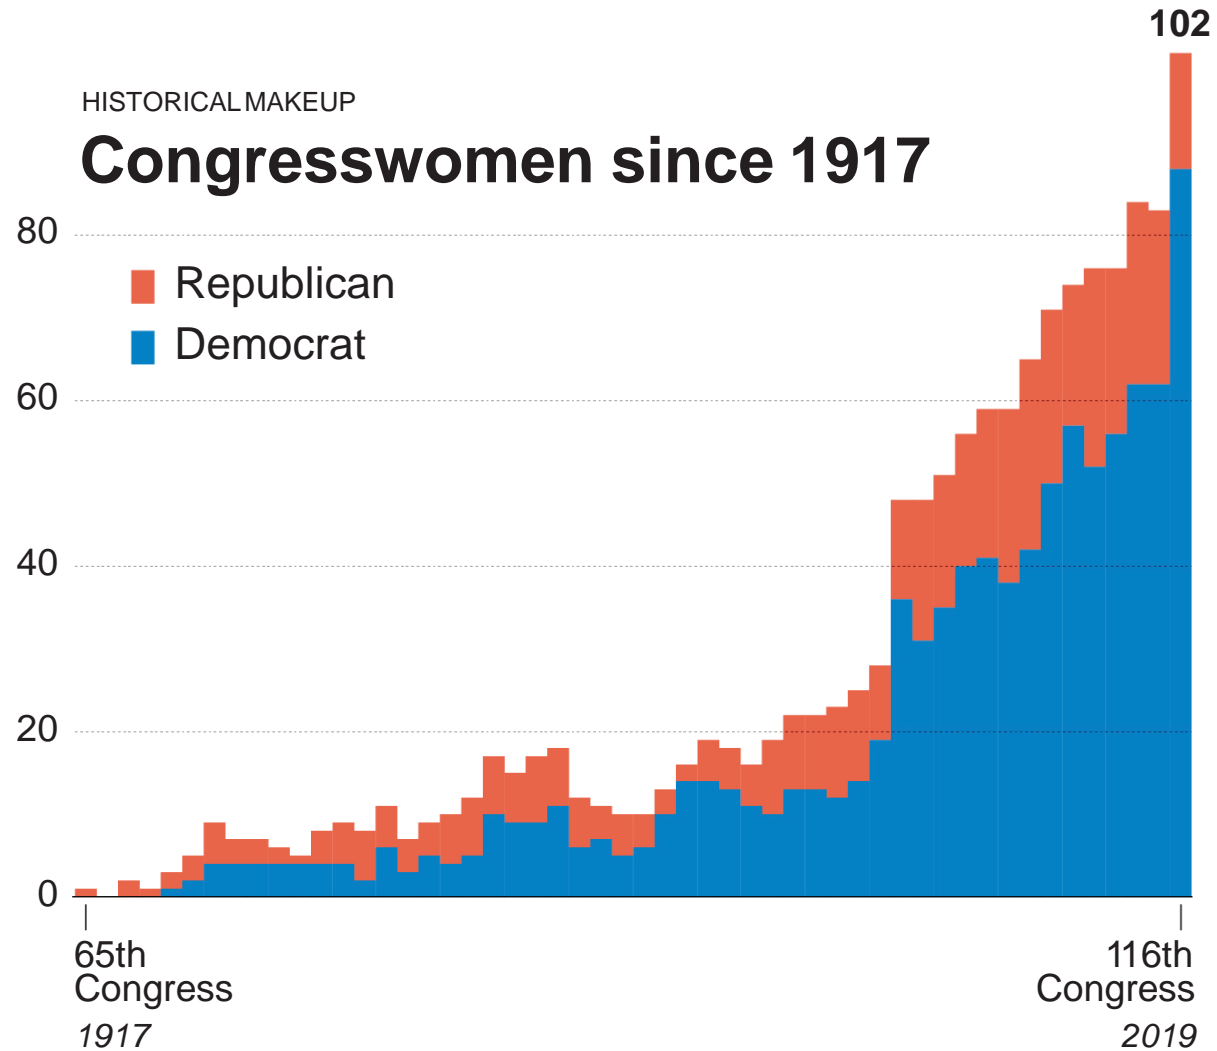

116th US House of Representatives

As of Jan. 2, 2019

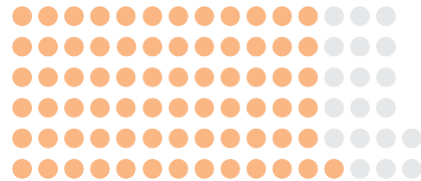

Sources: POLITICO staff reports, The Brookings Institution, U.S. House of Representatives, Military Times, Veterans Campaign and House Committee on Veterans Affairs, Ballotpedia, Congressional Research Service 2005 memorandum "Members of Congress of American Indian Descent"

Women in Congress

House Freshmen Class

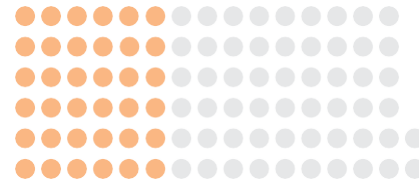

More than 90 freshmen are joining the House in the 116th Congress. It is the most racially diverse class of freshmen elected to the House, includes the most military veterans elected in nearly a decade, 36 women and includes the youngest-ever and second-oldest freshman members.

At least 73 went to graduate school. A third of them have law degrees and 12 have MBAs. Seven freshmen earned at least two graduate degrees.

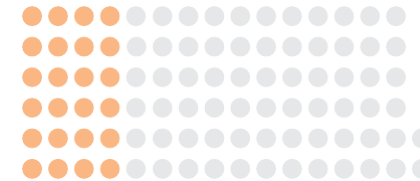

At least 18 members of the incoming class have served in the military. Six served in the Army, 11 in the Navy, and two in the Air Force.

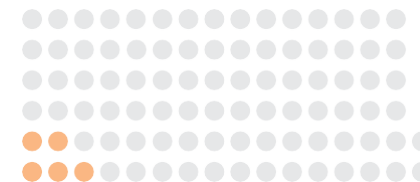

36 women — 35 Democrat, 1 Republican

Five worked in education or were teachers.

At least 24 of the new members elected to the House this cycle are Hispanic, Native American and people of color.

There are at least five medical professionals: three doctors, one dentist, and one nurse.

Note: Does not include North Carolina's 9th District because of election fraud allegations. Members-elect who won special elections in 2018 before the midterm elections are also not included.
